In the rural village of Bujagali, Uganda we are currently sponsoring 43 children in our scholarship program. The children's school fees range from $10 – $105 per term depending on their grade level. We are currently sponsoring children from grade 1-12. It is our goal to increase funding to the point where small business projects will be developed for the mothers. This will allow the women in the village to showcase and generate income by selling their crafts and through the creation of chicken farms and other projects developed by the mothers. In addition, one of our principle motives is to create a library within the village to enhance their educational experience. We also provide access to free HIV testing and treatment, we have enabled 7 individuals who have tested positive (including 5 of our sponsored children) to have access to free treatment.
